Leadership coach/Coach Supervisor

Jules experienced coaching first hand whilst working in the corporate world and found it to be the most powerful form of personal development she had encountered in her twenty year corporate career. So life changing that she wanted to be able to share such transformation with others.

Jules has extensive experience of working on global human resources initiatives gained through her years in multinationals. This has developed into a talent for using business objectives as a basis for designing effective organisational initiatives to create flexible organisations that deliver results for private and public companies; especially those in a state of change through mergers, acquisitions or reorganisation.

Enabling people to move smoothly through change is her strength.

Seeing her clients attain their goals and the tangible results that their companies want is vital, as is seeing those clients gain the recognition that they deserve.

For more than seven years Jules has consistently produced exceptional results for her clients and the organisations they work for.
